to write the following Article as a work-for-hire for inclusion in the McGraw-Hill Yearbook of Science & Technology to be published by McGraw-Hill, Inc.:

Article Title: BODY AWARENESS

Assigned wordage: 1500

Article description:

An article on the perception or awareness of one's body --- that is, the experience of being located inside one's body. Include a brief description of the neural mechanisms that underlie the conscious perception of the body, as well as discussing the research findings that point to key perceptual contributions to the sensation of "owning" or living in our bodies. An overview that describes recent developments would be quite timely and important. It should be written at a level understandable to the nonspecialist and should include figures and tables (as needed) and a bibliography of 3-5 general references.

For the online article (only), please provide an "additional readings" list of 4-6 more specialized papers or reviews, 4-6 key words, and 1-2 URLs for related Web sites.

Contributor acknowledges that the Article herein is being specifically commissioned by McGraw-Hill, Inc. and is to be prepared by the Contributor as a work "made-for-hire." To the extent that the Article does not constitute a work made-for-hire as a matter of law, the Contributor hereby grants and assigns to the Editor all exclusive rights to the Article under the United States copyright law and all international copyright conventions, including the right to copyright the Article and any renewals thereof in the name of the Publisher, the Editor, or their assignees.

McGraw-Hill, Inc. shall pay the contributor a one-time honorarium [of $225]  upon acceptance by McGraw-Hill, Inc. of the article. Articles not considered acceptable in form or content by McGraw-Hill, Inc. will be returned to the Contributor for correction or revision by Contributor in accordance with McGraw-Hill, Inc.'s instructions. The Editor reserves the right to edit the accepted Article to conform to the Publisher's style, presentation, and format, although care will be taken not to change the Contributor's meaning. It is understood that the Contributor waives any rights, including moral rights, the Contributor may have to object to such editing.

Contributor represents and warrants to McGraw-Hill, Inc. that the Article is original to the best of Contributor's knowledge except for such excerpts from copyrighted works as may be included with written permission of the copyright owners, and that the Article does not violate or infringe any copyright, trademark, patent, statutory, common law, or proprietary rights of others, or contain anything libelous. A copy of each permission shall be furnished to McGraw-Hill, Inc.

The Article shall be submitted on or before May 5, 2009 and shall be acceptable to McGraw-Hill, Inc. in form and content for publication.

*Plus a complimentary copy of the Yearbook for each contributor.
